Friday April 20 – Sunday April 22, 2012

Nestled within the Adirondack Park's six million acres of natural beauty, Lake Placid is paradise for the outdoor enthusiast, the adventurous heart and the romantic soul. Offering endless opportunities, attractions, shopping, dining, and family activities, Lake Placid encourages you to invent your own perfect day.

We recommend trying something new, whether it's climbing the Adirondack High Peaks, skiing or boarding down the highest vertical drop in the East at Whiteface Mountain, or simply strolling down Main Street mingling with local shopkeepers at one of the unique shops in Lake Placid.

Whatever you decide to do, you'll find the atmosphere here is liberating... because Lake Placid is more than pristine waters and majestic Adirondack Mountains. It's a real community filled with passionate people who are united by shared interests, a common perspective and immense enthusiasm for the beautiful area they inhabit.

You'll find the mood is infectious and your stay in Lake Placid will be invigorating. Relax and embrace it. Welcome to the Adirondacks.
